Note: The date in parenthesis after the name of the ship is the year in which the ship was commissioned. The second date, if given, is the year in which the ship was placed in a final reserve status, decommissioned, converted to other use or sold for scrap. If the ship was sunk this is noted; + indicates that the Captain was a fatal casualty.

Although in some cases the dates during which the ship was undergoing a major refit have been provided this has not always been possible. Many of the ships listed were reduced to Reserve status before being decommissioned. As noted in the general Introduction periods during which a ship was not Commanded by a full Captain are included.
